4. POLICE SUPERINTENDENT – JANE PROBERT

Superintendent Probert introduced herself to Councillors as the new Superintendent for Gloucester and the Forest of Dean. She has been in the Gloucestershire Constabulary for 25 years and spent some of the time policing in the Forest. The Chief Constable has reverted back to the pre austerity model (introduced in 2015), of 3 geographic areas, each with a Superintendent lead. The aim is for more local accountability and better links/relationships with organisations on the ground so that each team is in touch with the communities in its area. For Superintendent Probert her team is a huge priority, wanting to ensure there are the right people in the right places, they are well supported, skilled and have the right equipment. Local accountability is very important and she is confident the geographical area model is the right way forward.

Councillor Koning – crime in the Parish appears to have decreased over the past few months - how much will the statistics influence the level of police cover? Supt. Probert – whilst her team are currently looking at the data, the current pandemic has skewed the figures and she assured Councillors the data will be taken in context and officers will not be taken away.

Councillor Koning – drug crime statistics appear low but the community know there is much more going on in the Parish. What preventative work is being carried out? Sgt Parry advised that members of the public do contact them and Tracy Garcia-Cote, PCSO, has been provided support for operations in the area. There have been some arrests for drug driving, but officers do need to see things at the right time.

Councillor Swambo – gave brief outline of the Council Youth project. Sgt Parry asked to be involved and will liaise on this.

County Councillor Molyneux – congratulated Supt. Probert on her appointment. How have the Forest Police dealt with the different cross border lockdowns? Supt. Probert – local newspaper headlines have incorrectly reported incidents and they have been under a huge level of scrutiny. There has been much proactive work recently, including liaising with Gwent Police. There have been difficulties with the changing messages and guidance. Forest Police have concentrated on education with fines few and far between.

Councillor Drew – expressed local appreciation for the PCSO's and hopes they will not be taken away. What is the response time for them to receive officer support. Sgt Parry explained the tiers of support and that when officers are deployed from Coleford the response due to the local geography is set at 20 minutes.

Councillor Wall – what are the current rules for car tax and MOT’s delayed by Covid 19? Sgt Parry – the leeway for road tax ran out on Monday 16th November and discretion will be used for overdue MOT’s.
